DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-16, 18-21, and 23-24 are presented for examination. Claims 17 and 22 have been canceled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-9, 18-21, and 23-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Thebaut et. al. (5,889,953) (hereinafter Thebaut).

4. As per claim 1, Thebaut discloses a method comprising:
evaluating a current state of each device of a plurality of devices (col 6, lines 62-67); assigning devices of the plurality of devices to a group (elements of fig 3, col 5, lines 29-52, configuration: the selected parameters that determine the operating characteristics of an electronic device), the assigned devices each having substantially common state as other devices in the group (53,54,56, fig 5, col 5, lines 30-52, col 6 lines 3-11, domain is interpreted as a group of computers and devices on a network that are administered as a unit with common rules and procedures);

assigning at least one event-handling (col 4, lines 9-15) policies to the group (53,54,56, fig 5, col 5, lines 30-52, col 6 lines 3-11), wherein assigned policy is associated with each of the devices in the group (col 5, lines 60-67; col 6, lines 1-11); and revaluating (objects are re-evaluated, objects are interpreted as a device and state of the is characteristics of the object, col 5, lines 1-14; col 9, lines 5-10) a current state (col 6, lines 62-67) of each device in the group before the assigned policy is applied to the devices in the group (elements of fig 3, col 5, lines 29-52, configuration: the selected parameters that determine the operating characteristics of an electronic device).

5. As per claim 18, the claim is rejected for the same reasons as claims 1, above.

6. As per claim 2, Thebaut discloses evaluating a current state (device goes up or down etc, col 6, lines 49-67) of each device determines whether each device is currently a member of the group (col 6, lines 49-67).

7. As per claims 3 and 19, the claim is rejected for the same reasons as claim 1, above. In addition, Thebaut discloses determining whether a particular device is currently a member of the group (col 5, lines 29-67, col 6, lines 49-67, monitoring objects in the domain space); and applying the assigned policy to the particular device if the particular device is currently a member of the group (col 5, lines 29-67, col 6, lines 1-11, monitoring objects in the domain space).

8. As per claim 4, Thebaut discloses each device is assigned at least one additional policy that is not assigned to the group (conflicts anticipates devices are assigned with more than one policy, col 4, lines 25-34).

9. As per claim 5, Thebaut discloses a particular device is assigned to multiple groups (parent and grandparent domain, col 4, lines 25-34).

10. As per claim 6, Thebaut discloses the event-handling policy defines how the device is configured (col 5, lines 60-67 and col 6, lines 1-11).

11. As per claim 7 and 20, Thebaut discloses the event-handling policy identifies the types of events that are provided to each device (col 5, lines 60-67 and col 6, lines 49-67).

12. As per claim 8, Thebaut discloses the method is implemented by a management module (PCM, col 5, lines 60-67).

13. As per claim 9, Thebaut discloses One or more computer-readable memories containing a computer program that is executable by a processor to perform the method of claim 1 (fig 15, col 16, lines 54-65).

14. As per claim 21, the claim is rejected for the same reasons as claim 1, above. In addition, Thebaut discloses if a current states of a particular system in the particular group is not valid (col 4, lines 25-67), updating the particular group to delete the particular system (disallowing overlapping, col 2, lines 5-43; col 4, lines 25-67); and applying the policies to the systems in the updated group (col 2, lines 5-43; col 4, lines 25-67).

15. As per claim 23, Thebaut discloses creating an event log associated with the particular group (col5, lines 14-26); and maintaining information about the states of the systems in the particular group in the event log (col5, lines 14-26; col 6, lines 49-67)

16. As per claim 24, Thebaut discloses the current states represent at least one of a version of an operating system, a location in a geographic region, a configuration of the system, presence of a particular hardware item, or capacity of a particular hardware item (col 4, lines 65-67, col 6, lines 49-67, enterprise network is a geographically dispersed network under the jurisdiction of one organization. It may include several different types of networks and computer systems from different vendors.).

Response to Arguments

17. Applicant's arguments filed 04/28/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive, therefore rejections to claims 1-9, 18-21, and 23-24 is maintained.

18. In the remarks applicants argued that:

Argument: Thebaut does not teach or suggest evaluating a current state of each device before devices are added to a group and the again before policy is applied to the devices.

Response: Thebaut does not teach or suggest evaluating a current state of each device (PCM monitors and controls the configuration of network devices, col 4, lines 55-67 – col 5, lines 1-6; col 6, lines 62-67) before devices are added to a group and the again before policy is applied to the devices (during the conflict resolutions policies are re-evaluated before policies are applied, col 4, lines 15-55).

Conclusion

19. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
